April Specials—Angel Messages and Gifts

Find Divine Ideas With Archangel Uriel

In times of transition fear can cast a tall shadow, making it difficult to navigate the path of light. Meet Uriel, one of the wisest archangels. Uriel sheds light on situations and is the archangel of Divine inspiration and ideas. His name means “God is light,” “fire of God” or “God’s Light.”

Uriel’s color is golden yellow like the glow of a flame. His crystal is amber. He is associated with the Aquarius astrological sign.

Uriel’s other specialties include alchemy and Divine magic, prophetic information and warnings. He helps with natural disasters and earth changes. He is known for warning Noah and guiding him along his path. Uriel has an affinity with weather elements of lightning and thunder.

As one of the archangels of intellect and the mind, Archangel Uriel is a master problem solver and assists students with their studies and tests.

Ask Archangel Uriel to align your mind with the Divine mind, allowing you to clearly see inspiration, ideas and enlightenment. Divine vision helps you see different perspectives, new innovations and healing.

Once you ask Uriel for help, be ready for his Divine light to lead you in creative and surprising ways. The angels delight in surprising us and leading us to new ideas. Uriel’s guidance may come in an idea out of the blue, or you may just have a knowingness (claircognizance). Vital information may come through an overheard conversation or appear in an interesting news story or article to inspire you in just the right direction. It’s amazing what happens when Uriel shows us the way!

Unlock Your Claircognizance (Clear Knowing)

How often have you known something without being told? Have others accused you of being a know-it-all? If so, claircognizance may be one of your main cylinders for receiving Divine communication.

Clear thinking (claircognizance) can be the most challenging channel of Divine communication as you may discount your guidance dismissing it as knowledge that everyone already has. How do you recognize Divine guidance? There are several clues.

True guidance is repetitive and the ideas remain with you. It comes from a desire to improve a situation. True guidance is uplifting, motivating and encouraging. False guidance comes slowly, often triggered by fear and worry in the form of judgments. When you get an idea, stop and review the trail of thoughts preceding it. This will give you discernment as to whether it came from your ego. Divine guidance typically is in tune with you and matches your talents, passions and interests.

The Divine often provides one step at a time. Our humanity will struggle as we want the full plan. Archangel Michael explains that generals do not provide detailed war plans to the soldiers doing the fighting. The reason is the same—our focus needs to be in the present moment on our current step.

Pay attention to when ideas enter your mind. Is it after worrying or is it after meditation? Try keeping a journal where you can write ideas and quiz your higher self. Then, go back later and review the patterns and accuracy of your thoughts and ideas. This can provide tremendous insight while building confidence and faith.

Claircognizants need time away from thinking to increase their channel of communication. Typically, these souls are very work oriented and spend a great deal of time in their minds thinking and overthinking. All the more reason to take a break!

Imagine the top of your head as a sunroof on your car. Ask your angels to clear it of any debris and then see it opening. This is your crown chakra—the energy center for receiving and sending Divine communication. See and feel violet light as Divine guidance flows in and through you.

Affirm: I now connect my mind to the Divine mind and guarantee myself peace in this moment. I know Divine guidance for it lives in me and always guides me safely everywhere I go.
